

UNIVERSITY OF NOTRE DAME

University Writing Program Post-Doctoral Candidate in Rhetoric and Composition

The University Writing Program of the University of Notre Dame invites applications for the position of post-doctoral candidate in Rhetoric and Composition. This is a 1-2 year renewable position in a dynamic writing program serving undergraduate students. The person hired will teach two sections of composition, offer workshops in the person's area of expertise, serve as a mentor to graduate students and other instructors, and contribute to the intellectual life of the program.

We seek applicants with strong teaching records and a commitment to program development.

Requirements: A PhD in rhetoric and composition, specialty open.

Closing Date: Open until filled

Instructions: Applicants may submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, and three letters of recommendation to: Terri O'Bryan, University Writing Program, 205 Coleman Morse Building, University of Notre Dame, Notre Dame, IN 46556. Materials may also be sent electronically (tobryan@nd.edu). Interviews will be conducted at the MLA conference in Philadelphia.

The University of Notre Dame, a private Catholic university, is an equal opportunity employer and is strongly committed to the diversity of our faculty and staff. We invite applications from women, minority and Catholic candidates, and from other candidates whose work may contribute to the distinctive mission of the University.

For more information about the University Writing Program at the University of Notre Dame, visit: <http://www.nd.edu/~fwriting/>