The College of Arts and Letters comprises 21 departments with 33 majors, 39 minors, and more than 20 honors programs.

80% of Notre Dame students are active in service learning and community volunteer activities.

More than 60% of Arts and Letters classes have fewer than 20 students.

The student-to-faculty ratio is just 13:1.

Faculty from the College host almost 200 scholarly conferences and visiting lectures every year.
♦ The College of Arts and Letters funds undergraduate research:

Learning Beyond the Classroom
$175,000 in 2008–09
Undergraduate Research Opportunity Program
$189,000 in 2008–09

♦ 60%–80% of Arts and Letters students spend at least a semester or summer abroad—in more than 40 locations around the world.

♦ Notre Dame offers instruction in 14 languages, including Irish, Arabic, and Quechua.