

Study Russian. Do anything.

100%

of recent Notre Dame Russian majors started full-time jobs, enrolled in graduate school, entered service programs, or joined the military within six months of graduation.

68% started full-time jobs

- Analyst, Cornerstone Research
- English teaching assistant, Fulbright U.S. Student Program, Russia
- Field organizer, Democratic Party of Virginia
- Paralegal, Hunton & Williams
- Portfolio analyst, Paynet
- Project assistant, Jenner & Block
- Sales training program, SMC
- Staff accountant, Apodaca & Co.
- Student ambassador, USA Pavilion, Kazakhstan
- Quality assurance, Epic

18% enrolled in graduate or professional school

- International management: Bocconi University
- Law: Vanderbilt University
- Medicine: Georgetown University
- Russian and Eurasian studies: European University, Russia

9% entered service programs

City Year, Little Rock, Arkansas

5% join the military

Nadezhda Braun '18
Russian major

First: Fulbright English Teaching Assistantship, Russia
Now: Teach for America, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma

"Russian has been a really important part of my life for a long time. I studied Russian starting when I was 10 years old and immediately fell in love with the depth of the language and culture. I couldn't imagine doing anything else.

"The Russian program at Notre Dame really goes out of its way to help students study abroad in Russia. They recognize the importance of studying a language in context, and they truly make it possible for us to accomplish that. I would not have received a Fulbright grant to Russia if it hadn't been for the excellent preparation in my classes and the incredible support of the faculty.

"Studying Russian has taught me how to truly appreciate another culture and the beauty and depth within it. These skills have helped me as a teacher, where I am helping my students learn about their own capacity for empathy and appreciation. Learning how to acknowledge the strengths and intricacies of other languages and cultures is a critical piece of living and working in an increasingly connected global economy."

Curriculum requirements

- Intermediate Russian II
- Advanced Russian I and II
- 4 Russian literature or culture courses
- 3 Russian electives

Source: Center for Career Development First Destination Reports, 2014-2018

Study everything. Do anything.

Department of German and Russian Languages and Literatures
318 O'Shaughnessy Hall 574-631-5572
germanandrussian.nd.edu grl@nd.edu

Director of Undergraduate Studies
Melissa Miller mmille48@nd.edu

ARTS AND LETTERS

