Dear Council,

I'm looking forward to getting together on Friday, October 23. The agenda for the meeting is attached. We'll start with a visit from Lou Nanni, who will update us on the results of the recently concluded Boldly Campaign. Then James Brockmole, our Associate Dean for Research and Director of ISLA, will explain the research disruptions many of our graduate students have been experiencing due to COVID. He'll also introduce a panel of some of our best and brightest grad students to tell you more. We'll conclude with some Q&A and some words from our Council Chairperson, Bill Kennedy.

I want to remind you again that if you want to participate in the student mentoring program, please fill out this form. Even if you participated last year, please fill it out again if you intend to continue to be a mentor.

The zoom connection details can be found at the end of this email. Chloe will also send you a Google calendar invitation for the meeting. If you don't use Google, please disregard. If you have any questions or concerns with connecting via zoom, please reach out to Chloe at cleach@nd.edu.

I look forward to seeing you soon!

Sarah
